MEMPHIS APPEAL.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

When this cry was first heard in America, it was raised by the people of the British Colonies, who were taxed by the Parliament of Great Britain, in which body the Colonies, as political communities, were not represented. It was a just cause for revolution. No State or Colony can owe any allegiance to a government beyond its limits, which compels it to bear any portion of the burthens of the country, without being entitled to any voice in the conduct of public affairs.

The reconstructed States of the South are virtually without representation, because they are not permitted to select, of their own free will, and without restriction or limitation, those who shall represent them in Congress. It is the same thing, to deny representation altogether to a State, or to prohibit its election of those who truly represent, and are the choice of the people; and to compel them to select their representatives out of a limited number of persons, designated by the supreme power. A people on which so odious a restriction is imposed, is not represented, but misrepresented, in the body that makes the laws. If they vote at all, they merely elect, between two or more whom they detest and despise, that one who is least despicable and detestable. It is like determining between two diseases, by which of the two it will be least horrible to die. It is always quite as probable that, as the people cannot exercise free choice and select those who would truly represent them, they will not care to vote at all.

In either case they are not represented. The men who have sneaked into Congress from Arkansas, and who, if they had the least sense of shame, would not dare to look in the face a man rightfully proud of holding his position by the free votes of a respectable constituency, do not represent the people of Arkansas, any more than the negroes in the South Carolina Convention represented the PEOPLE of that outraged State. They occupy a position not more honorable than that of an officer who has in his conservatory the statuettes stolen by him from a tomb in the South; or on his sideboard the plate packed up while soiled at Holly Springs; or in his library or parlor the books and paintings captured from Southern residences; not more so than that of a man who lives in a house of which he has robbed his wards, or which he has gained by sharp practice and chicanery, or won by cheating at cards or jockeying in a horse-race.

These men vote to increase the expenditures, and by appropriations for sectional benefit and ingenious tariffs, and releasing bond-holders and manufacturers from taxation, lay heavy burthens upon the people whom they pretend to represent. They are always ready to sell themselves for a price. They cry their votes for sale, as hucksters cry their wares. For they know that the places they hold do them no honor, but are only their shame; so that these places do not profit them, unless they put money in their purses. They have no character to lose, no popularity to win, that an honest man would have. If any of them are without shame, they are only so much the more despicable.

And yet the votes of the two sham Senators from Arkansas, weigh as much as those of the real Senators from the great State of New York. Twenty of them will soon be there to herd together, and pretend to be at their ease while in the pillory; serene while they are the mark of universal contempt.

These men will have in their hands the liberties and fortunes of a million freeborn Southern men who despise them. They levy taxes upon them, and bow them down to the earth with the heavy, cruel burthen. They continue their disfranchisement, and commit to negroes the power of making laws for them; they squander the revenue mercilessly wrung from them by the Federal tax-gatherers; they impose on them penalties, disqualifications and punishments, and deprive them of every right that any charter of freedom ever guaranteed; they are for the time the Norman nobles making laws for the Saxon Thane and peasant and the serf—the Tartars encamped in China. This is more than taxation without representation; and it is the condition of every Southern State. It is the condition of Tennessee. It would be a fit condition for the subjects of Turkey, Morocco or Algiers.

For such a government is simply a Despotism, the Rulers being in no degree responsible to the people, and only interested to enrich and aggrandize themselves. They are even worse than those members of the Irish Parliament who sold their votes for the union with England for British gold. The only difference is, that some of these were men of birth and mark and name and reputation, and their venality and treachery, therefore, seemed unnatural and worthy to be noted in history; while the venality and political debauchery and shamelessness of the ignoble crew who misrepresent and are to misrepresent the people of the Southern States, is no phenomenon of which the world cares to take notice. History does not reach down to fish the names and actions of such creatures out of the puddles and holes in which they swim.

Look at this city of Memphis! Who are they that impose taxes on its people at pleasure, and expend its revenues? Who levy black mail, and refuse to obey the law and account for their ill-gotten emoluments, and arrest citizens at pleasure, and permit a burglary to be committed every night? The Board of County Commissioners hold their offices by the same tenure as the Pachas of Turkish Provinces;—at the pleasure of the Sultan. Not responsible to the people, they are not responsible to any body. They are the Lords-Paramount of Shelby county, armed with and grossly abusing an irresponsible power. Bribing venal presses with their patronage, and paying them for their daily coinage of falsehood with the moneys coming from those who have neither voice in the appointment of these men, nor privilege to remonstrate against their exactions and extortions, nor remedy for any scandalous abuse of power, or robbery masked under the guise of lawful authority, they are above the laws and may defy the Courts.

The Police Commissioner is equally irresponsible. He is "monarch of all he surveys." He and his myrmidons, not holding their offices by commission from the people or the people's agents, are not responsible to the people, and, like the County Commissioners, can even defy the Press, and regard with a lofty disdain its invectives and its grave remonstrances alike. Fouche's Police, under the Empire, were not more completely independent of and irresponsible to the people of France, than Beaumont's Police are of the people of this County; nor were they one whit more regardless of the rights of citizens, the sanctity of dwellings, the immunity from arrest except by virtue of legal warrant and specific authority.

How the grievance of taxation without representation, of which the Colonies so bitterly complained in 1774, shrinks into insignificance and dwarfs to contemptible proportions the sincerity and honesty and disinterestedness of the men who clamored loudest against it, when we compare it with the taxation without representation of Shelby county and the city of Memphis! The power of burthening all estates with ruinous taxes, and of fleecing men by unlawful exactions of fees for licenses,—the most important power that any Government possesses; the power of disbursing the moneys extorted from the people,—that power, the unlawful or arbitrary and excessive exercise whereof has so often roused the people to revolution, is lodged here in the hands of a few men who are set over the community as Rome set her Proconsuls over her Provinces. What was the levy of ship-money, by Charles I, compared to the levies of exorbitant taxes on the people of this county, by men who rule like the creatures of a King, or the Satraps of Darius? What if the State has a republican form of government? There is a despotic power of taxation and corruption over the people of this county, that may with the same right be extended over the whole State, and establish every where, as it has established here, the worst, most galling and most dangerous prerogative of tyranny. In what respect do these minions of a sordid despotism differ from the tax-gatherers sent by Great Britain to grind the faces of their colonists, or the subordinates of Hastings, who coined money out of the blood and agonies of a subjugated people? The wrong is the same, the nature of the power is the same, the difference is only in the atrocity of its exercise and excesses.

All this is not deprivation of individuals of their political rights or privileges. It is taking from an organized community the most important powers of self-government, those that are always most jealously guarded by every free people, because they are intimately connected with their rights of property and their pecuniary interests. There is nothing against which a people so soon revolts, as illegal or excessive taxation; and the action of the Colonies and the Declaration of Independence have established it as a principle, that any State or community so governed has the right to resist the tyranny by every means in its power.

Edmund Burke said, of America, in his speech in the House of Commons, in 1774, on American taxation: "She had, except the commercial restraint, every characteristic mark of a free people, in all her internal concerns. She had the image of the British Constitution. She had the substance. She was taxed by her own representatives. She chose most of her own Magistrates. She paid them all. She had in effect the sole disposal of her own internal government."

No one will doubt that these are characteristic marks of a free people, without which it is not free. The people of Memphis and Shelby county are not taxed by their own representatives; for nine-tenths of them are disfranchised, and have no voice in either National or State affairs, nor vote in the election of Legislators of either State or Nation. For County purposes they are taxed by a body of men not responsible to, but wholly independent of them, appointed by a partizan Governor, to serve the interests of faction. Mr. Barbour Lewis and his colleagues are no representatives of the people of Shelby county, and their patent of authority does not bear the Great Seal of the People's sanction. They are the agents of a despotic cabal, and represent interests adverse to those of the people against whom they legislate. The people do not choose their own Magistrates. They are appointed by a power hostile to the people over whom they are to domineer, and whom they plunder to sustain the genteel pauperism of the Radical Press.

Mr. Burke in the same speech asked, "what one character of liberty the Americans have, and what one brand of slavery they are free from, if they are bound in their property and industry by all the restraints you can imagine on commerce, and at the same time are made pack-horses of every tax you choose to impose, without the least share in granting them?"

The same great man very truly said, in his speech on conciliation with America, that the great contests for freedom in England were from the earliest times chiefly upon the question of taxing. "On this point of taxes," he said, "the ablest pens and most eloquent tongues have been exercised; the greatest spirits have acted and suffered." The defenders of the British Constitution, he said, "took infinite pains to inculcate, as a fundamental principle, that, in all monarchies, the people must in effect themselves mediately or immediately possess the power of granting their own money, or no shadow of liberty could subsist. The colonies," he said, "draw from you, as with their life-blood, these ideas and principles. Their love of liberty is, as with you, fixed and attached on this specific point of taxing."

No sophistry can convince the people of the South, that they are really represented in Congress. Only the few and odious whom the people hate or despise, and the freed negroes, are represented there. The Helots legislate for the Spartans: and the people are taxed without being represented at all, even where military government has retired before misgovernment and the rule of chicanery and fraud.

There are eight millions of people in the South, the vast majority of whom are of the Anglo-Saxon race. An immense host of the white men composing in part this people, are disfranchised by test oaths, and those who are not can elect no man a legislator, who is of the same opinion with themselves, under whom or by whose side they fought, whose sympathies are with them, and who would really represent them.

Mr. Burke said to the House of Commons, speaking of the Colonies, with their population of only two millions of whites: "Some degree of care and caution is required in handling such an object. You ought not, in reason, to trifle with so large a mass of the interests and feelings of the human race. You could at no time do so without guilt; and be assured you will not be able to do it long with impunity."

The taxes imposed on the people of the United States are unequal, unfair, vexatious, and fearfully onerous. It was a terrible mistake to exempt the Government bonds from taxation. It will some time become of grave importance. The stamp act is most vexatious in its workings. The direct tax on incomes is unconstitutional. The tariff is the sum of all villainies. The discontents produced by a system so fatally wrong must at no distant day grow into dangerous proportions.

We propose to discuss hereafter the national system of taxation. For the present, with the oppressed and humiliated Southland before our eyes and in our thoughts; with half its white population disfranchised, or the power in the hands of negroes to disfranchise them; denied re-admission into the Union except on terms dishonorable in themselves, and which brand them with permanent inferiority to the Northern States; taxed by laws made by those not their representatives; governed by Constitutions forced upon them by fraud and sustained by the bayonet; represented in Congress by men whom they had no voice in choosing, and therefore still governed by force, and submitting only because they cannot successfully resist,—we advise the men who thus riot in the licentious indulgence of the love of tyranizing and the mean expedients of revenge, to ponder upon these words of Burke:

"The use of force alone is but temporary. It may subdue for a moment; but it does not remove the necessity of subduing again; and a nation is not governed, which is perpetually to be conquered. . . . A further objection to force is, that you impair the object by your very endeavors to preserve it. The thing you fought for is not the thing which you recover; but depreciated, sunk, wasted and consumed in the contest."

"We suffer as much at home, by this loosening of all ties, and this concussion of all established opinions, as we do abroad. For in order to prove that the Americans have no right to their liberties, we are every day endeavoring to subvert the maxims which preserve the whole spirit of our own. To prove that the Americans ought not to be free, we are obliged to depreciate the value of freedom itself; and we never seem to gain a paltry advantage over them in debate, without attacking some of those principles, or deriding some of those feelings, for which our ancestors have shed their blood."

The Northern States have been assiduously trying that policy which Burke calls "the old, and as I thought, exploded problem of tyranny, which proposes to beggar its subjects into submission." It would be well for our taskmasters to apply to themselves and the country which they misgovern, these prophetic heads of that great statesman which the establishment of American independence proved to be almost the language of inspiration:

"Remember, when you have completed your system of improvement, that nature still proceeds in her ordinary course; that discontent will increase with misery; and that there are critical moments in the fortunes of all States, when they who are too weak to contribute to your prosperity, may be strong enough to complete your ruin."

MASONIC PUBLISHING
—AND—
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
432 Broome Street, New York.

LITURGY OF THE ANCIENT AND ACcepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, for the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States. By Albert Pike, 33d, Sov. Grand Commander 8vo. Splendidly illustrated with Chromo-lithographic plates and numerous wood engravings, Part II, 4th to 14th degree, $6 00.

 It would perhaps seem unnecessary after giving the above title-page to say anything further in the way of recommendation. The name of the author should of itself be a sufficient guarantee of its worth. Ill. Bro. Pike, by his learning and contributions has done as much to elevate the standard of Masonic literature and extend a knowledge of its symbolism, ethics and history as any other living man. This book, in its particular department, may justly be considered a master-piece, embracing matter not only useful to the Masonic student of every grade, but to men of science in the highest literary field of the present age. Notwithstanding this book has been preceded by several of a similar character, yet to Bro Pike alone is due the honor of first exploring this branch of Masonic literature and of opening to the admiration of the Craft its vast storehouse of knowledge and beauty. This work contains the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Rite from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive, is elegantly illustrated with chromo-lithograph engravings, showing all the jewels, costume, furniture, etc., belonging to each degree. No expense has been spared in getting it up, and it is without doubt the most elegant, as well as one of the most useful books, ever offered to the Fraternity.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

NEW YORK, July 9, 1868.

The Convention which, at 3:45 to-day, closed its session, must ever rank among the first in interest and importance that has assembled within the limits of the United States. Around it centered the hopes of a majority of the people who, tired of the malevolence and despotic sway of Republicanism, demanded a change that should assure them of a future commensurate with their deservings, and worthy the early and better days of the Republic. Every part of the country was represented, not only by regular delegates and alternates, but by independent bodies and independent citizens, crowding even this great city beyond its capacity. To say that enthusiasm for the Convention and anxiety for the results of its work characterised these representatives of Democracy is to faintly describe a furore which culminated when the name of Horatio Seymour was announced as the unanimous choice for President. Indescribable was the excitement when that transpired, so much so that it must ever remain to those who did not witness or participate in it, as an idle dream of the beholder or the fancy of an overheated imagination. The same might be said, only in less degree, of Frank P. Blair, the mention of whose name by Gen. Preston, of Kentucky, evoked an enthusiasm on the strength of which he was carried forward to the second place in the esteem of the Democratic party on the first ballot.

From the first day and first hour of the first day this spirit of enthusiasm was manifest. The Pendleton men and other men's men who were unanimous for their candidates, at times spoke defiantly of opposition and impatiently; but these fits over, they had a winning way of recording their fealty "to the party first and men after." From the mouths of all were to be heard expressions of anxiety—not for the success of a particular candidate, but for the success of a cause so dear to every man unbiased by selfish considerations, and with heart enough to desire the supremacy of the Constitution, the Union, and the maintenance of the laws. As in duty bound, the friends of the several candidates labored hard for the success of their friend, but as the sequel has proven, when it became necessary to confirm by their action the harmony seemingly characteristic of the Convention, the name of Seymour was gladly raised, at once the talisman of their success and best earnest of their determination to yield all to that great end.

Pleasant memories of the great event must ever haunt the hearts of those privileged to participate in it. The generous hospitality of leading people here to delegates and visitors, especially to the gallant representatives of the South, are beyond all praise. Delightful to the senses the hue of the mantle of oblivion with which the ex-Confederates were covered, and under which they were made to forget they were elsewhere than at their own homes and surrounded by their own warm-hearted friends. By the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, too, such men as Forrest and Hampton and Bate and Preston and a host of other ex-General officers of the South, were received as only gallant soldiers can receive their fellows. Unstinted in gladness were the greetings, unmeasured the warmth of words that welled up to express the pleasure of the meetings of these once foemen.

Not since the fatal Convention of 1860 had the Democratic party of the North and South, the East and the West, met in council. Under circumstances of angry debate, throwing imprecations at each other, the men in whom centered the peace of the country, had last parted. War had interveued to prevent their meeting in '64, and now in '68, after passing through the fires of persecution, they met—met to rescue the Republic, to resuscitate a dormant Constitution, and revive the reign of law, of order and of decency. Is it to be wondered at, then, that there should be this enthusiasm? Is it to be wondered at that the people of this and the neighboring great cities of the Union are to-night carried beyond the reasonable expression of approval of what the Convention has done and are wild with excitement, inspired by hope? Is it to be wondered at that ever since the name of Seymour and Blair flashed along the telegraph wires of this great metropolis, the shout of gladness should be sustained, the peal of bells make the air jocund with their sound, and the belching forth of salutes from war-like cannon inspire to victory the hosts of Conservatism?

Never in the history of the country has this white-heat fervor been witnessed. Compared to the manner of reception of Seymour's nomination, Grant's fell upon the country still-born. Wanting in any of the attributes of the statesman, cold, without heart, barren of words as of ideas, how could Grant's nomination beget the feeling that ever since the announcement of the Democratic nominees has continued to echo and re-echo from Maine to Texas and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a harbinger of full fruition of our hopes? Seymour, wherever he moves, surrounded by admiring and warm-hearted friends, his intellectual face lighted by its wonted kindly smile, is in marked contrast to Grant, moving gloomily-peculiar across a continent he would govern, but from whose people he cannot draw even most ordinary attention. And then to compare the smart dapper Colfax with the gallant, chivalrous Blair, inheritor of statesmanship and a soldier born, uniting in himself all those qualities of head and heart best calculated to win upon the populace, best calculated to lead in a great crisis. We have justice and truth and honor on our side, and standard bearers worthy of our cause. We must, then, be successful; we must be successful even in Tennessee, where all the deceits and machinations of Radicalism have united to make an ever-present hell. We must do more than content ourselves with effete organizations dignified with good names, but wanting the spirit, the young energy and life without which we cannot win. The Conservative Union man and the ex-Confederate soldier must bend their energies toward victory. The activity that before the war Tennessee was famed for, must be revived and sustained until a united public sentiment shall achieve for us our liberties. This nomination of the great Democratic party were barren of purpose to us did we fail to take advantage of the strength it inspires, and achieve something for ourselves within the limits of our own State. If the prevalent general joy is not a harbinger of our deliverance, we had no right to representation here. If the simple fact of the existence of a repre-entative body like that that has adjourned has no strength for us in Tennessee, then it was a failure. But it had strength, and has imparted to us proportioned to our needs. We have but to stretch forth our hands in energetic effort to make that strength available to the overthrow of Brownlow. Any approximation to the political efforts that of old carried the Whig and Democratic parties to victory in Tennessee, will insure us victory in the contest for Congressional as well as Presidential honors next November.

But I am carried beyond my limit by hope, and am writing of "things to come" rather than of the present, with which you desire I should deal. As I write, crowds of men are on either side of Broadway, wending their way to Union Square to participate in the ratification of the Convention's action by the people of the great metropolis. Transparencies and banners and flags and all the paraphernalia of a triumphant host have been called into requisition as appropriate to an occasion most memorable, among all the noted of which the history of New York is full. Go over the list of delegates and select thence the hundred or more effective and brilliant speakers, among the best men of our country, and you can have some faint idea of the meeting whence shall go to the country the hearty consent of New York city to the platform of principles and the candidates of the Democratic Convention of 1868.

Ere this reaches you, Memphis, as every city in the Union, will speak its approval and wheel into line with the column that must not be defeated. And let us hope that nothing shall intervene between us and the consummation of our designs, comprising as they do the achievement of our independence for the second time. We have two-thirds of the soldiers of the late Union armies with us, and a majority of all their general officers; we have much of the Conservative Republican element, with Chase and such men pledged to a platform that comes nearest the realization of their wishes. Everything combines to our success. The people desire change. They are tired of Radicalism. They want a real peace. They want release from taxation. They want an equalization of the burdens necessary to the support of the Government. They want the restoration of that confidence which, springing from conviction of the enjoyment of equal rights, imparts contentment and sustains every industrial pursuit. Only from the triumph of the Democratic party can these wants be supplied. The people feel this—hence the enthusiasm that pervades the country. By effort akin to our present feelings, we must be victorious.

J. M. K.

A FREEDMAN'S OPINIONS.

The following extract from a private letter to a gentleman of Memphis is not without its value. The instincts of the negro will soon turn him, every where, against the locusts that have swarmed into and settled in the South, to hold office, buy tax titles and confiscated lands, and be enriched by the miseries of the land:

UNION SPRINGS, ALA., June 22.

For the last two months we have had a garrison of Yankee soldiers at the Springs. I cannot see any purpose for which they are sent here, unless it is to steal and plunder. All the disturbances in the country is what is produced by them; and they will steal from a negro as quick as they will from a white man. This is true of all the Yankee soldiers I have ever known. A week ago four soldiers came here, in the night, and under the pretense of being sent by the officer, gained admittance into the house. As they were thoroughly armed, master could make no resistance; for not suspecting any such thing, he had no weapons of any kind. After carrying him off for some distance, and leaving him under guard, they returned and robbed the house of all the money master had, and everything else they wanted. His loss was over $1000. Our honest military authorities, who now rule this State, wink at such conduct, and make no effort to bring such scoundrels to justice. Truly the former days were better than these.

JEFF COWLES,
Formerly Slave, and has never left his Master.

TENNESSEE.

—The Nashville Banner, under head of "Snake Excitement," says: The State library at the Capitol has been besieged for several days by earnest inquirers as to the species to which the Triune monster belongs, and even the Governor's office has been invaded.

—A chap in Memphis wrote to the Governor the other day, petitioning that a negro woman who had been sent to the Penitentiary six months for stealing his money, be kept there until the expiration of her sentence. In a side note he mildly suggested that if the stolen money could be refunded, he "woundn't say nothin'" if she were pardoned.

—The Knoxville Press and Herald says: Our friend H. D. O'Dell, to make good his word, has brought to us a specimen of the corn that grows upon the tassel. Any one desiring to see a vegetable curiosity, can see at our office a tassel studded with corn grains and with a cob or ear at the top. This is but a sample, from a whole ten-acre field of the same sort.

—The same paper says of the funeral of Col. Ashby: The remains of Col. Henry M. Ashby were interred yesterday afternoon at six o'clock p.m., in Gray cemetery. The very large number that attended the remains sufficiently attested the respect for the deceased. The funeral ceremonies were conducted by Rev. James Park, of the First Presbyterian Church. We could not gain admittance, but learned that the Rev. Pastor delivered lessons of wisdom to the living, which, we trust, was not as "seed sown upon dry ground." The funeral procession was very large. Many gathered about the grave of Ashby, and all wept that he should have so foully fallen.

—"It may be remembered that at the opening of the railroad from Decherd to Winchester, week before last, a tragic event was recorded in connection therewith. The following are said to be the true and simple facts of the case: A young lady from Winchester, sister to Col. Pete Turney, was taken sick, and, in company with her brother, was at the spring bathing her head and using her own cup. A negro standing by stepped up and snatched the cup from her, with an oath, and told her 'that foolishness had been going on long enough.' She screamed, and her brother, seeing the altercation, pulled out his pistol and shot the negro three times before he fell. A white man, at the third shot, remarked that it was carrying things too far, and pulled out his pistol to fire, when young Turney turned upon him and let him have the remaining loads of his pistol. Both the negro and white man were killed." And the verdict of the coroner's jury, like that of Fisher's alley, was "served them right."

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The credentials of Wm. Pinkney White, appointed to succeed Senator Johnson as Senator from Maryland, were presented by Vicker, and he was sworn in and took his seat.

Trumbull called up the bill authorizing the temporary filling of vacancies in the Executive Department, and moved to amend it by adding to the end of the third section a proviso that in case of death, resignation, absence or sickness of the Commissioner of Patents the duties of said Commissioner, until a successor shall be appointed, or such absence or sickness shall cease, shall devolve upon one of the Examiners-in-chief in said office, to be recommended by the President. Amendment agreed to, and the bill further amended on motion of Edmonds by adding the words, "And no appointment or designation otherwise as herein provided in cases mentioned in the first and second sections, shall be made to fill vacancies happening during recess of the Senate, and as ended." Passed, and goes to the House for concurrence.

Cattell called up the bill to authorize the issue of three per cent. temporary loan certificates to redeem the compound interest notes.

Trumbull moved an additional section, providing for monthly sales of gold by the Treasury Department not exceeding ten millions a month, commencing on the 1st of August, till the amount in the Treasury does not exceed $40,000,000.

A long debate ensued, Trumbull and Cameron supporting the amendment and Cattell opposing it. The latter read a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury to show that balance in the Treasury will soon be reduced by payments of interest and for Alaska to about $37,000,000.

The House amendments to the bill for the discontinuance of the Freedmen's Bureau were concurred in.

A bill was passed appropriating $20,000, money expended by L. D. Potter, at Charleston, for the relief of Union prisoners during the war, and for removing certain political disabilities from persons named.

HOUSE.

The Alaska Appropriation bill passed, with the amendment that the assent of Congress is given to a stipulation of treaty, but declaring the extension of citizenship and appropriation of money on the subjects submitted by the Constitution to Congress. Vote, 114 to 12.

The bill authorizing the temporary supplying of vacancies in the Executive Department, was non-concurred in, and a Conference Committee appointed.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—A meeting of the House Reconstruction Committee is called for to-morrow at the request of a number of reconstructionists who have just arrived from Mississippi, and who represent and propose to show that the result of the late voting in that State in favor of the Democratic war was accomplished by fraud.

A communication was received at the headquarters of the army from Gen. Meade, commanding the Third District, announcing the receipt of official information from His Excellency, Harrison Reed, Provisional Governor of Florida, that the Legislature of that State had adopted the fourteenth amendment and otherwise complied with the requirements of Congress, on June 25, 1868. He had issued a general order to the military commander of Florida to turn over to the civil authorities the management of the State free from any military interference whatsoever as soon as he should receive official information that the civil government had been duly inaugurated.

Accompanying the letter from Gen. Meade is a letter from Gov. Reed, announcing that the State Government has been duly inaugurated, and complied with the conditions precedent to the admission of the State into the Federal Union duly complied with, and Representatives admitted to Congress.

A letter from Col. J. T. Sprague, commanding District of Florida, is also transmitted, bearing date of July 4th, in which he states that he had on that day turned over all the public property, archives, books, records, etc., belonging to the State of Florida, and everything appertaining to the Governor of that State, to the proper civil officers, and had relinquished all control over the civil affairs of the State.

Gen. Grant and family are now sojourning on his farm near St. Louis, where he will remain for several weeks prior to leaving for the West. He will not return to Washington before the middle of September.

The force of the Freedmen's Bureau in all States where it is in operation, will be much reduced in a short time. Orders already have been received for reducing expenses in Kentucky on the 16th inst. By that time the Bureau will be operated in that State for less than half the expense of last year. It is also intended to place the other States on the same footing as soon as practicable.

Maj Gen. W. R Johnson, retired, has been appointed as Professor in the military service at the Missouri State University, at Columbia, Mo.

—The Nashville Gazette says: Through a gentleman from Gallatin we learn that the celebrated Barry and Lauck election case was yesterday decided against Lauck, the Radical Chancellor elect of the Seventh Division, and in favor of Judge Barry, who contested the election on the ground of fraud at the polls in various districts. With all due respect to Judge Steele, we say this decision comes unexpected, and we sincerely hope it may not be the means of his decapitation. Such an example of judicial integrity was not looked for from a Radical court, and it leaves room for the belief that there is at least one man on the bench in Tennessee who can not be corrupted, and who is not afraid to do his duty. The praise of all honest men will follow him for all time.

HALL OF CHELSEA DIVISION, NO. 57, SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

WHEREAS, It has pleased an All-Wise Providence to remove from our midst, on the 7th inst., our esteemed Brother, Dr. W. T. BAILEY; be it

Resolved, That we yield submissively to the Divine Will in this dispensation of Providence, and that we receive the decease of our Brother as a warning that life is brief, and that we should strive with energy and perseverance for the advancement of the noble cause for which we are banded.

Resolved, That in this decree of Providence we have met with an irreparable loss; that we shall miss the wise counsel in debate and influence in society, by the sudden decease of our Brother.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved wife and children, that we spread a copy of these resolutions on the record of our Order, and transmit a copy to the same to the afflicted family.

Resolved, That we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days as a memorial that we cherish the many good deeds of our Brother, and "engrave his virtues on the tablets of enduring memory."

JOHN WHITE,
JAS. A. GILES,

GENTLEMEN: You ask me for my statement relative to your cure for ERYSIPELAS or CHARBONE IN HORSES and MULES, which you style

I have used your Liniment in about two dozen cases with perfect success. I had lost all hope of a remedy, but believe your discovery "THE REMEDY" I have not failed in a single case in which I have applied your Liniment. I believe it a valuable discovery. Think every planter should provide himself with the Magic Arnica Liniment. No planter should be without your remedy where this terrible disease prevails. I have supplied each of my plantations. My supervisors report favorable upon every trial.

Very respectfully, yours, etc.,

NOTICE.

City subscribers to the APPEAL, daily or weekly, who may desire to leave the city for the summer, can have their papers sent them regularly by leaving a memorandum at the Counting-room of the APPEAL, No. 13 Jefferson street.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Correspondents who wish to have any attention paid to their communications must observe the following rules:

Be brief, concise and to the point, avoid the "flowers of rhetoric," and confine yourself to a plain statement of facts. Write on but one side of the paper in a clear hand, and with pen and ink, giving your words and sentences plenty of room. In all cases the real name and address of the writer must accompany the manuscript. Articles which redound to personal or individual benefit, or are of a personal nature, will only be inserted as "advertisements" or "paid cards."

FIFTEENTH DAY—Wednesday.—Sun rises 5:09; sets 7:45.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The meeting of delegates to select a Congressman and Electors for the Eighth District of Tennessee, will be held at Brownsville on the 8th of August.

DANGEROUS—The Bayou bridge on Beal street. Will the authorities look to it?

'SQUIRE MICHAEL FOLEY, successor to John C. Creighton, Esq., has removed his Magistrate's Office to the old office, No. 31 Adams street, where litigants and others needing his official services can find him on hand at all business hours.

CORRECTION.—In our report yesterday of the trial of the Wickersham case before 'Squire Griffith, in alluding to Wick's lawyer, Scalawag Griffing, his name was spelled Griffith—making it appear as if we spoke of the 'Squire as a scalawag.

BASE BALL.—The second game for the championship of West Tennessee, between Bluff City and Pride of the South Base Ball Clubs, will be played this afternoon on the Enterprise grounds, corner of Vance and Lauderdale streets—game to be called at half-past two o'clock.

CROWDED OUT.—Much to our regret and mortification, several items of local interest, among which were the report of the meeting of the Young Men's Seymour Independent Democratic Club, and the call for an Agricultural Reunion, were crowded out of our yesterday's issue. The latter appears this morning.

THE WEATHER has been intensely sultry for the past ten days, the air being cooled off, however, by occasional thunder storms. The thermometer rose to 98° yesterday and the day before, in the coolest place we know of, outside of an ice box. We have no doubt that it was over a hundred in most places around the city.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson street and 398 Main street, have received Le Bon Ton for August, Munro Novel No. 127, Beadle Novel No. 154, Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, Sporting Times, Albion, Gardner's Monthly for July, Horticulturist for July, Album, French, German and Italian papers, and all the dailies as usual, and Harper's Bazar of Fashion for the ladies.

IUKA SPRINGS.—There will be another "hop" at this delightful resort on Friday evening, the 24th inst. Messrs. Steffey & Barchus, the proprietors of the hotel, are doing everything in their power to render their beautiful place as attractive as possible. We have no doubt that all who enjoyed their hospitality at their last soiree dansante will be delighted to repeat the trip.

PURE CISTERNS.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman writes to that paper on the way to have pure cisterns, as follows: This spring my cistern got quite filthy, and a great many angle-worms in it, and we could scarcely use the water. I procured a couple of live fish and put them in the cistern, and since that time it has been free from worms and dirt and smell. The fish will live and grow finely.

WHY IS IT?—Do not our druggists have any fixed price for their medicines? A few days ago we went to a prominent drug establishment and got a prescription filled, and were charged twenty-five cents for it. Three days after, at the same store, we were charged fifty cents for the same prescription, and still another time the charge was forty cents. This is not the case in this one drug store alone, but has happened to us in two others. This is not right, and at its next recurrence, we propose to give names.

THE NEW YORK LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.—We learn with pleasure from our friend S. D. McClure, Esq., that this old and highly respectable corporation have determined to establish a branch agency in our city. The gentleman whom they have chosen to represent them here as General Agent, T. C. Caskin, Esq., is a Charlestonian, but has resided the past two years in our midst, and has won the confidence and esteem of every man who has been brought into business contact with him. The Company has made a wise selection, and we have no doubt that they will be most faithfully and ably represented by him.

FORT PICKERING AFFAIR.

A Correct Statement of Facts.

Death of the Wounded Man.

Coroner's Inquest.

After two ineffectual attempts of the daily press (one of which we made ourselves) to give a correct statement of the affair at Fort Pickering which cost the Radical party one vote, and may be two, we think the following may be relied on as the main facts in the case:

Hiram Tolliver and Fred Jones, both negroes, were near neighbors, occupying in fact, the same premises, with their mothers, mothers-in-law, wives and children, down in the African portion of Fort Pickering. About five o'clock on Monday evening, the mother of Tolliver, and Jones' mother-in-law—both elderly wenches, whose pugilistic proclivities Time, however, seems not to have dampened, got into an altercation which resulted in a clinch and wool pulling. The son and son-in-law both rushed promptly to the spot to take a hand in the sport which their respected parents had so magnificently commenced. Tolliver arrived first, and getting in between the combatants, he seized his mother's opponent by the wool and struck her a blow. Upon this Jones cried out "Shame!" and told him to "let them fight it out, it was their quarrel." He replied by "lending" Jones "one" on the face, which brought him to grass. In this position Jones secured a brick which happened to be near, and as he rose let drive with it at Tolliver's head, smashing the brick all to pieces, but only making Tolliver mad. The latter then drew his pistol, and while Jones was preparing to "frow anudder brick" fired at him and wounded him through the arm. The wound was not serious enough to keep him from heaving the second brick, which again struck Tolliver. Jones then turned and ran, Tolliver firing three shots at him, two of which took effect and passed clear through the body, bringing him to the earth. Tolliver, as soon as he found what he had done, came to the city and gave himself up to the negro constable, Haydon, who turned him over to the sheriff, who sent him before 'Squire Griffith. The 'Squire remanded him into the custody of Haydon, until yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, when he was again brought before him, and Jones being still alive, was bound over to appear again this morning at 8 o'clock, in the sum of $2,000. Meanwhile, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the wounded man died, and Coroner Samuelson held an inquest on his body. The verdict was, "died from a pistol shot wound inflicted by Hiram Tolliver;" upon the rendering of which Tolliver was re-arrested and incarcerated in Causey street station. He will have a hearing this morning.

DISGUSTED.—A party of four gentlemen, three of whom were strangers in Memphis, sallied out night before last to get a supper at a restaurant. The supper was a wager which had been lost by one of the party, and was to have been a fine affair—a job worth at least a hundred dollars to any restaurant—as they were all bon viveurs, and spent money (of which the loser of the bet had an abundant supply) with a lavish hand. The appetites of all four were quite sharp, as they had been "saving themselves" for the occasion, and they wended their way toward John Gaston's with a feeling of lively anticipation, as may be supposed. Judge of their disgust on arriving at Gaston's to find his house closed, although it was not yet half-past ten o'clock. "Never mind," said one of the party, "Thiebaud's is yet open, we will go there," and thither they sallied, only, however, to find the house dark and the door closed. Another restaurant was tried with a like result, and at eleven o'clock, completely disgusted, the party agreed to postpone the supper until they arrived in New Orleans, for which point they were to start at twelve o'clock next day, leaving Memphis with a very large idea that its restaurants were very small potatoes.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.—At the meeting of the Board yesterday morning the matter of public printing was taken up, and after considerable debate, the following resolution was offered by Dr. White, and adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the Clerk of this Court be authorized to issue to the Bulletin, Post, Ledger, APPEAL, Avalanche and the German papers a copy of the order passed by the Board asking for bids in regard to printing such proceedings of this Board as they may order published, (provided they will insert the same without charge), and that the proposals be in county warrants, so much per line.

THE SOUTHERN PALACE.—We call the attention of our fair readers to the notice in our advertising columns of Messrs. Speed & Strange, who are now engaged with Messrs. Howell, Wood & Co., at the Southern Palace, No. 332 Main street. These gentlemen are too well known to the public, especially the 'shopping' portion of it, to require any eulogy or panegyric at our hands. They are well acquainted with the wants of the people, and have determined to devote their time and attention to their old favorite business. They call upon their old friends to renew their trade at the old stand of Speed, Doncho & Strange.

ECLECTIC physicians study all the different systems of medicines, use whatever is scientific and good, discarding any course of medication that is calculated to cripple the efforts of nature, overwhelm the system, and produce death or chronic disease. THE TRUSTEESHIP.

The Box is Opened.

"The Sheriff's in his Office a Counting out the Money."

The Trusteeship again furnishes us with a chronic item. Yesterday the Chancellor gave the Sheriff authority to "open that box" and see if there was in it what Wickersham claimed that it contained, viz: $76,015 60 in county warrants, $10,915 73 in cash, and $2190 in coupons, in all $89,121 33, a right snug little pile. Mr. Wickersham was notified that the deed would be done at four o'clock, and was requested to be on hand at that time. The appointed hour arrived and passed, however, and brought with it, to the excited knot of interested ones, who had assembled at the Sheriff's office, no tidings of the scarlet sinner. The bondsmen, attorneys and newspaper men gathered on the sidewalk in front of the Criminal Court and watched each passing vehicle, and strained their eyes looking for one that, like the lover in the song, they feared "would never, never come." Sheriff Curry dispatched several deputies to hunt him up, and at last went himself. Bets were freely offered, but found no takers, that there was nothing of any value in the box, and the Court Recess was liberally patronized ad interim. At last, however, it was announced that Wickersham had been found and was on hand; and the party, swollen by the accession of a few officials, such as Judge Lewis, Mr. Lesgue and others, adjourned to the Chancellor's room, where the box was opened. Those of the bondsmen who expected to find a "beggarly account of an empty box" were most agreeably mistaken, for it was found to be quite full of warrants, etc., which the County Clerk with an assistant commenced to count, and continued counting until about $30,000 of it were counted out. They then postponed further counting until this morning, when the whole amount will be gone through with.

The expected trial before 'Squire Griffith did not come off.

P. S. Since writing the above, we learn that not one cent of money was found in the box, and only a portion of the bonds.

TO FARMERS AND MECHANICS.

WHITE'S STATION, July 13, 1868.

We believe "in union there is strength," and that in any undertaking where numbers are interested there exists an absolute necessity for harmony and concert of action, in order to insure success. The truth of this adage is admitted, and needs no further proof of its correctness than to observe the workings of the different avocations and professions of life. In all prosperous cities merchants have their chambers of commerce, bankers their associations, printers their unions, the legal and medical fraternities their rules, and so on with almost every calling you can name, if you will only except the farmers and mechanics of the States overrun by the late disastrous war, who, it seems, work alone without any well organized plans, modes or systems—each one upon his own individual opinions or views, without any co-operation, of others interested in the same end; as if there existed no community of interest whatever in these two all-important callings. We are of the opinion that this is altogether wrong, and that there is an immediate and urgent demand for a change; that there should be a reunion of the farming people of this country, to discuss in every way the question of agriculture—the great lever or motive power by which the prosperity, peace and happiness of the whole universe is sustained, upheld and driven forward. With the increase of the soil, the prosperity of the whole world increases. Commerce thrives—in fact, every channel is buoyant, and the people happy; with its decrease, adversity chases away prosperity, commerce wanes, and the busy channels of life become stagnant pools, and the people more or less discontented.

It is not expected in this address to the farming community to discuss elaborately the many natural advantages soil and climate possesses. Suffice it to say they are as great and as many as any section of America; that the native capacity of the soil is the same to-day as when it brought forth its mighty abundance years ago; that the same productive virtues and properties are in the fields of Shelby county to-day as were in it ten years ago when it produced the cotton that bore off the prizes at the great World's fair in London. And we believe that there can be no doubt, if properly implored, old Mother Earth will be as liberal to her children to-day as then; but we have not yet approached her in the proper way, and we accuse her unjustly when we cannot make the corn, cotton, wheat, oats, potatoes, the every thing, that we did then; and it is a direct insult offered to her former benevolent charity and goodness, when we go to other granaries for our cereals, other smokehouses for our mite of meat, other gardens for our seeds, other pastures for our horses, other meadows for our cows and sheep, and to other markets for everything we use, whether it be the trifling paper of pins or the costly fabrics of the East. The Great Giver of every good has lately sown the refreshing showers over the parched earth, and vegetation gives evidences of new life and vigor, and the signs are promising, and bid us take courage and be of good cheer, that our deserts shall yet rejoice, and our waste lands blossom abundantly and rejoice even with joy and singing.

But we may go on theorizing, quietly fold our arms, say we must live at home, that we must raise our own grain, seeds, meats and stock till doomsday. Unless we arouse ourselves to action, to the vital importance of the unity of action, determine that there is a community of interest among the farmers of Shelby county, that we will be live working men, that we will be no longer the hewers of wood and the bearers of the mighty and grievous burdens that we have so long borne. To the end, then, that we may have an opportunity of thus working together, the Committee of the White's Station Agricultural and Stock Association do most earnestly and cordially request all farmers and mechanics, and all others interested, from every portion of Shelby county, to meet us at Eudora Church, nine miles east of Memphis, on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, Saturday, the 25th inst., at 10 o'clock a.m. At which time and place a full, fair and honest interchange of opinions, views and feelings can be had, and such action taken as we then and there may determine on for furthering the objects suggested above, and discussing the importance of forming an Agricultural Society of the county.

All of which we most urgently and respectfully submit.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

A Lady Shot by her Brother.

Serious if not Fatal Result.

It is our painful duty to add another to the long list of sad accidents resulting from the careless use of firearms. The victim of this criminal carelessness was a lady named Mrs. Mary Wiseman, who lives on Front street, near the Gas Works. She was shot yesterday evening about 6 o'clock, by a little brother, a lad some thirteen years old, with a shotgun which he playfully pointed at her. The whole charge of small shot entered the back of her head, inflicting a serious if not a fatal wound. Dr. Wilson was called in, and promptly dressed the wound, and afforded temporary relief to the sufferer.

Meeting of the Fourth Ward Club

The Democrats of the Fourth Ward last night had a preliminary meeting, for the purpose of organizing a Club.

On motion, Capt. James Brett was chosen temporary Chairman and Capt. Sam. S. S. Anderson Secretary.

Mr. Hodge explained the object of the meeting, and moved that a committee on permanent organization be appointed.

The Chair appointed on said committee Messrs. Pratt, Cartwright and Hodge.

During the absence of the committee, Col. Moses White addressed the meeting in a few interesting remarks.

The committee then reported that the Club should be known as the "Fourth Ward Democratic Club," and the officers to consist of a President, four Vice-Presidents, Recording and Corresponding Secretaries and Treasurer.

A committee was then appointed to nominate permanent officers, and during their absence Mr. Sam. Anderson made a short but very practical speech. The committee then reported the following gentlemen as permanent officers of the Club, who were unanimously elected:

President—Col. M. C. Gallaway.

Vice-Presidents—Col. Moses White, Jas. Elder, Esq., John H. Speed and Lorenzo Podesta.

Recording Secretary—J. T. Pratt.

Corresponding Secretary—W. W. Hodge.

Treasurer—Nolan Fontaine.

On motion of Capt. Brett, a committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws for the government of the Club, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

On motion, Tuesday evening was selected as the regular time of meeting.

On motion, Col. Jno. Dawson was appointed a Committee of One to inform the Central Club of the permanent organization of the Fourth Ward Club.

The Club was then addressed in short remarks by Col. Marshall, Col. Tyler, Jas. Elder, Esq., and Capt. Brett; after which it adjourned to meet again next Tuesday night, at eight o'clock.

River fell two inches.

MEMPHIS, July 15.—A heavy rain fell yesterday afternoon which continued until nearly dark. The streets and sewers were washed clean, and the levee looked fresher than for some months. The river is falling slowly at this point.

The Arkansas is cutting out, with 30 inches to Little Rock at the shoalest point.

White river falls steadily.

The St. Louis Republican of Monday says: The decline in the river at this point continues at a very slow rate, and this fact is cited by the river wise as evidence that we are not to have any very low stage of water this season. The Upper Mississippi is falling steadily, the rate of decline at Dubuque being about 3 inches in 24 hours.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business was rather quiet on the levee for Tuesday, but our local packets had average trips.

The W. A. Caldwell came in from the Arkansas yesterday on time, and leaves again to-morrow for Little Rock and all way points. She carries the U. S. mail and makes all way landings. Rube Haynes is master and jolly Jack Chambers is clerk.

The Ohio river from North Bend to Cincinnati is full of sunken canal boats, sunk there during the flood last month.

The Natoma and Darling were to have left Cincinnati last night for this port.

Capt. Jim Durff was in Cincinnati yesterday and will be at home to-morrow.

Capt. Sam H. Shock, who has been absent for some time in Washington, and who came near being placed in the Bastile for offering to buy over Ben Butler to the anti-impeachers by a present of half a dozen silver-plated spoons, will be at home to-day. He has, we learn, received an assortment, but whether as custom-house officer at New York, local inspector of steamboats at Memphis, or agent of the California overland mail, we are not informed.

The Minneola, Capt. Miller, will back out to-day for Louisville and Cincinnati, making all way landings. The Ohio is low, but passengers need fear no delay by taking the Minneola.

Rates of freight from Cincinnati to New Orleans are as follows: Whisky, $2; pork, $1 50; oil, $1 50; flour, $1 per bbl.; heavy freight, 40c per 100 lbs. These figures will be increased as the river declines.

Ben Hubbs, who executed a mysterious disappearance from an Evansville wharf boat lately, has been seen in Pittsburg. He had been in that place only a short time—not long enough to be smoked past recognition.

Our Latest Improved

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the First Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the warerooms of the Company, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, to be a thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its fullness and power, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine base richly moulded, and with instrument is fully warranted for five years. sep6 dawly

BY TELEGRAPH.

Noon Dispatches.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The heat yesterday was said to be the most intense that has been felt in New York for fourteen years. A very large number of persons fell in the streets, insensible, from the heat, two of whom died during the day. Thirty-seven persons were taken to Bellvue Hospital, and three of them died. At three o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer stood at 82°; at 4 p.m. at 97°, and at midnight at 88°.

Seven young girls went in to bathe last evening, at the foot of Fifty-sixth street, in East river, when one of them got beyond her depth, and, in her struggles to escape drowning, dragged three others into like danger. A boy fourteen years old, named Frank Beck, hearing the screams of the girls, came to their assistance, and succeeded, by persistent diving, in rescuing three of the four. The other, named Powers, was drowned.

MONTGOMERY, July 14—Smith, Governor, and Applegate, Lieutenant Governor, were sworn in yesterday.

The Legislature adjourned and ratified the fourteenth amendment. Schofield, the commander of the District, wasted some powder in honor of the event.

CHARLESTON, July 14—Gen. Canby has issued orders that civil authority will be paramount when the President proclaims the adoption of the 14th amendment.

ATLANTA, June 14.—The committee to investigate the eligibility of members of the Legislature, are making slow progress.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, July 14, 1868.

With the exception of the damage done to the corn crops by the long drouth we have cheerful news from all sections relative to the crops. The wheat harvest bids fair to be unusually large throughout the Northern States and California, while from Europe the accounts are scarcely less favorable. Harvest work has commenced in Germany, Italy and the South of France, and the yield of wheat is largely in excess of last year, though the quality is not so desirable. In the great grain districts of the Black Sea wheat is excellent both in quality and quantity. The harvest in England will be very good, with the exception of the Eastern counties, where the drouth has inflicted injuries. In Ireland for the first time in many years, no complaints are heard of the condition of any of the crops. From Spain and Australia alone do we hear a different story.

This has been a very quiet day in financial circles. The committee appointed by the stockholders of the Merchants' National Bank to visit Washington in reference to the resumption of business by the bank, were expected home to-day, and will no doubt make an early report.

A. Cordes, Esq., President of the German National Bank of this city, being absent on his way to Europe, where he may stay an indefinite period, tendered his resignation some days ago. At a meeting of the Directors, held yesterday, our well known fellow citizen and prominent merchant, E. M. Apperson, Esq., was elected President of the bank, and has assumed the duties incumbent thereto.

In stocks and bonds, owing to the light offerings, we have no sales of importance to note, further than a sale yesterday not before mentioned of 400 shares Memphis and Charleston railroad at 56c; other stocks and bonds are nominally unchanged.

Exchange is steady at our previous quotations, with supply fully up to the demand.

In coin the offerings exceed the demand, though both are light. Buying at 139 to 140c; a large lot would readily coin many the latter figure; selling at 140½ to 141c. Nearly all taken is shipped East. The New York market opened at 142¼c, but fell back almost immediately to 141¾c, closing at 142c.

The following are the closing New York quotations on Governments: Coupons, '81, 113¾; do '62, 113¾; do '64 10¼; do '65, 11¾; new issue, 8¾; do '67, 8¾; 10-40s, 7¾; 7-30s, 2d and 3d, 8¾; Old Tennessees, 71¼; new do 70. Government bonds dull.

City Scrip is quiet, with no demand, except from brokers, who buy at 72 to 73c, for small amounts; selling at 75 to 78c. A large order would be filled at less.

City Bonds are weak. We quote nominally at 75 to 77c.

County Warrants dull at 50c, buying; selling at 55 to 60c.

Police Scrip weak at 70 to 75c, buying; selling at 76 to 80c.

Cotton opened dull in Liverpool today, and prices were lower; Uplands, 11½d; Orleans, 11¾d, and closing dull with no change in quotations. Sales 8,000 bales.

The New York market was dull at the opening, with Middlings 32c, and closed with prices tending downward; Middlings nominally 31½ to 32c.

We have only a small sale to note, 8 bales barely Middling were taken at 29½c. There has been little or no inquiry during the day.
